The University of Hertfordshire (UH) are offering training for the following Secondary School Direct Routes:

- School Direct (Salaried) for secondary phases (all subjects) includes QTS plus 30 Masters level credits (Level 7). Schools employ the trainees during their training period as unqualified teachers. Trainees need to be off-timetable on Thursdays to attend the Taught Course. Information about salary grant funding from the DfE towards the costs of salary and training for 2017-18 is available on DfE website. Schools pay UH £5200 from this funding for training course costs.

- School Direct (Training Programme) for secondary phases (all subjects) offering PGCE secondary, which includes QTS and 60 Masters level credits (Level 7). Trainees are school-based but have a more gradual introduction into teaching complemented by training both school led and campus based. Schools will not employ these trainees but will be responsible with UH for their training. These trainees will have access to ITT bursaries (if eligible) and Student Loan Company finance (if eligible). UH charge fees of £9250 for PGCE courses. Information about bursaries is available on DfE website.

Please see diagram below for more details of these routes.
