The course is designed for all health professionals in lead roles who have responsibility for leading individuals and teams to achieve organisational objectives. This could include, for example, nurses, midwives, doctors, allied health professionals or managers.

Course aims

The aims of the course are to enable students to understand the role of coaching in leadership, develop their own skills in coaching and be able to evaluate a range of approaches to coaching.

Content

The course content is designed to facilitate participants in developing knowledge and skills of coaching for leadership. Students will be enabled to integrate learning with practical experience. Classroom sessions will be interactive and participative with students being encouraged to learn and practice coaching skills and discuss how they will use them in their professional practice.

Assessment

The assessment consists of a portfolio of Coaching Practice, where integration of theory with practice is demonstrated.

Who teaches this course?

The course is facilitated by University lecturers who are also qualified and experienced coaches. It takes place at the College Lane campus, Hatfield.

Cost

The fee for new self-funding students is £680. Please note that the fee may vary depending on your source of funding and whether you are a returning student. To find out information about the fees visit go.herts.ac.uk/cpdfees

The course forms part of a broader CPD framework that can lead to the award of Postgraduate Certificate, Postgraduate Diploma or Master’s degree.
