Alison Halligan - Hertfordshire Business School Advisory Board

Alison was appointed Chief Executive of St Albans Centre for Voluntary Service (CVS) in September 2013. The CVS supports and assists local charities, including many small independent charities and community groups.

Prior to joining St Albans CVS Alison worked for over 20 years in central government, most recently in senior civil service roles in the Department for Transport, including significant preparation for new government after the General Election in 2010.

Before joining the civil service Alison worked for 2 years in publishing, following on from her degree in English literature.

Alison was born and brought up in Scotland, and has lived in St Albans with her family since 1992.
