This course is designed for any health professional who, as part of their day to day activity, supports, encourages and facilitates others in their learning and professional development. You should be a qualified health professional currently working in an appropriate area of practice and supporting others in their professional development. The individuals being supported may be any members of the multidisciplinary team, qualified, pre-qualifying or those without formal qualifications.

Course aims
The aim of the course is to develop the appropriate knowledge, understanding and skills to encourage others in their professional learning within the practice setting.

Content
Through a series of workshops and related activities you will explore theories of teaching and learning, models of supervision and learning, identifying evidence and using evidence for best effect. You are expected to keep a log of your learning in the practice environment and reflect on your own performance as well as that of your learners.

When you successfully complete the course you may be eligible for accreditation with your professional body (Society of Radiographers PEAS) for accredited educator status.

Assessment
The assessment will consist of a portfolio with associated commentary. There will also be an individual presentation to the group.

Who teaches this course?
The interactive workshops take place at the College Lane Campus in Hatfield. The course is facilitated by an interdisciplinary team of lecturers with expertise in learning, teaching and assessment in the practice setting.

Cost
The fee for new self-funding students is £680.00. Please note that the fee may vary depending on your source of funding and whether you are a returning student. To find out information about the fees visit go.herts.ac.uk/cpdfees.

The course forms part of a broader CPD framework that can lead to the award of Postgraduate Certificate, Postgraduate Diploma or Master’s degree.
