Study abroad with the School of Creative Arts

The School of Creative Arts constitutes a wide range of programmes in the arts, including traditional and new forms of work. Programmes within the school are designed around students pursuing one subject, and individual modules in a subject area are designed to inform and draw on material taught in complementary modules in the same area. For this reason we don’t permit students to “pick and mix” across subjects within the school, or across other schools, but expect them to focus their studies on a single subject area. In addition, timetabling within the school is extremely tight, due to the need for access to specialist teaching resources, technical support and rooms. This means that only the recommended study plans below would be likely to work within the timetable.

Since all of our programmes expect that students will have studied the same area in high school, we have no “entry level” options, and will need students to be able to demonstrate prior education and training in those areas they are choosing to study with us.

Modules listed as 15/30 credits are offered on a year-long basis. Students who are here for one semester will complete one semester’s worth of the work, and be awarded 15 credits.

Music Composition:

All students in this subject must have studied music formally. It is expected that students can read and write music and understand western-common-notation, and are reasonably comfortable with at least one musical instrument. Students wishing to study at level five should have some experience of composition and performance.

Modules:
- Perspectives of Music 2
- Techniques and Technology 2
- Studies and Investigations 2
