Academic Integrity and Academic Misconduct
UPR AS14 Appendix III

Policies superseded by this document

This document replaces version 13.1 of Appendix III, UPR AS14, with effect from 8 January 2021.

Summary of significant changes to the previous version

This document has been renamed and rewritten to enhance students’ understanding of academic misconduct and to provide clarification and greater transparency for both staff and students.

Three policy changes have also been introduced:

1. additional academic misconduct offences have been added to those that can be handled by the School in circumstances where the student accepts the allegation(s) and the recommended academic penalty;

2. academic penalties will be imposed by the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or School Academic Integrity Officer (SAIO) at Stage 2, or the Student Academic Misconduct Panel at Stage 3; and

3. School Academic Misconduct Officers have been renamed School Academic Integrity Officers (SAIOs) to better reflect their role in the promotion of academic integrity and the deterrence of academic misconduct.

Glossary

A glossary of approved University terminology can be found in UPR GV08.

For the purpose of this document, ‘you’ means ‘the student’.

1 What is Academic Integrity?

1.1 The University has a duty to maintain the standards of its awards and, in discharging this duty, it requires students to demonstrate academic integrity in all aspects of the assessment process. Academic Integrity involves:

i  properly acknowledging the work of others, where it has contributed to your own studies, research or publications;

ii ensuring that each student’s contribution to group work is represented honestly;

iii encouraging others to behave with academic integrity;

iv complying with your assessment instructions;

v following any relevant ethical requirements;

vi avoiding actions which would give you an unfair advantage over others; or vii ensuring that you represent honestly the results of research or experimental data.

1.2 If your work lacks academic integrity, you may be guilty of academic misconduct.

2 What is Academic Misconduct?

2.1 Whilst the University has attempted to present as comprehensive a list as possible, the list of academic misconduct offences set down below is not exhaustive.

2.2 Plagiarism

2.2.1 Plagiarism is presenting another person’s work as your own work (whether deliberately or unintentionally) without acknowledging the source fully. To avoid plagiarism, you must always include referencing and citations for all the material you used in producing your assessment.

2.2.2 Plagiarism includes copying or paraphrasing work or ideas from any published or unpublished source (whether, for example, a textbook, journal, newspaper, the internet or other electronic media, lecture slides, hand-outs, or a fellow student’s work) and presenting this for assessment without full acknowledgement of the source. Full acknowledgement means indicating clearly exactly which words and ideas have been copied or used, and where these words and ideas have come from.

2.2.3 Plagiarism applies not only to text, but to other media such as graphics, tables, formulae and computer code. For example, plagiarism will occur if you:

- copy word for word from sources (copy & paste);
- use quotes without the use of quotation marks;
- copy a sentence or paragraph into your assignment and change a few words or phrases to ones of similar meaning;
- use software to change words or phrases in an attempt to avoid plagiarism;
• use ideas (including structure and presentation) contained in another person’s text without acknowledgement;
• use images produced by another person or based substantially on the work of another person without acknowledgement; or
• translate a source from another language and present it as your own original work.

2.3 Self-Plagiarism/ duplicate submission

Self-plagiarism (or duplicate or double submission) occurs when you submit the same piece of work, or a substantial part of it, for assessment on more than one occasion. This includes any submissions that you may have made at a previous institution. Self-plagiarism may include the re-use of text, research data, etc. This will be treated in the same way as other forms of plagiarism unless the original piece of work is referenced appropriately. Self-plagiarism will not normally include work submitted for reassessment/re-take within the same module or linked assignments where work submitted later forms part of a final project/dissertation.

2.4 Collusion

Collusion occurs if you submit a piece of work done in collaboration with another student undertaking the same assessment as if the work was entirely your own. It is important to understand that if you willingly or carelessly make your work available to another student(s) in circumstances where they could submit your work as their own, both (or all) parties are guilty of collusion regardless of intention.

2.5 Contract Cheating

Contract cheating occurs when you arrange for help with an assessment such that there is reasonable doubt as to whose work the assessment represents, or you arrange for the assessment to be completed entirely by someone else and, in either case, then pass the work off as your own. Whilst contract cheating might involve buying either the whole or part of an assessment from, for example, a ‘cheat site’ such as an essay mill or auction site (e.g. the assignment is uploaded to a specialist website and people are asked to bid to write the assignment for you), it extends to input from a fellow student, friend, relative, or any other person, with or without payment of any kind.

2.6 Misappropriation of material submitted for assessment

If you access a fellow student’s work to help you in writing up your assessment and, without their knowledge or permission then copy it or otherwise use it, you have misappropriated their material and have committed academic misconduct. This is also plagiarism.

2.7 Fabrication or Falsification of Data

Fabrication or falsification of data occurs if you make up (or manipulate) data or results and record or report on them in an assessment. It also includes claiming to have carried out experiments, observations, interviews or any form of research and/or data collection which you have not done or altering the results obtained.
2.8 Fake referencing

Fake referencing includes making up quotations and/or supplying fake citations. The fake citation can be either completely fabricated or reference a real source (book, journal, or website) which contains no such article or words.

2.9 Making your work available for others to copy

It is a form of academic misconduct for you to make your work available by posting it on the internet or making it available by other similar means, regardless of whether you receive a financial reward for making your work available. Making your work available includes leaving the work on your laptop unattended in the Learning Resources Centre enabling another to copy the work.

2.10 Examination Misconduct

2.10.1 Examination includes an in-class test, written, oral and practical examinations, whether conducted face-to-face or online.

2.10.2 The following list of academic misconduct offences relating to examinations is not exhaustive.

2.10.3 Use of unauthorised materials

Use of unauthorised materials occurs if you bring into the examination room (or any other room in which a formal assessment is taking place) unauthorised aids including books, papers, notes, stationery or unauthorised material stored in the memory of, or accessible via, an electronic device regardless of whether you attempt to use these materials. Unauthorised material also includes writing on your hands, body, or clothing.

2.10.4 Unauthorised use of examination materials

Unauthorised use of examination materials occurs if you obtain or see a copy of an examination question paper or other form of assessment before the date and time of its authorised release (this covers both ‘seen’ and ‘unseen’ papers).

Unauthorised use of examination materials also occurs if you remove an examination script or examination stationery or other materials from the examination room (or any other room in which a formal assessment is taking place) unless specifically authorised by an invigilator or examiner.

2.10.5 Use of technology in an Examination

You must not be in possession of technological or electronic devices such as mobile phones, smart watches and hidden earpieces/micro earbuds/mini cameras, regardless of whether there is evidence that such devices are switched on or used.

You must not be in possession of any calculator other than a UH approved calculator.
2.10.6 Copying

You must not copy from, or try to copy from, another examination candidate whether by looking over what the candidate has written or is writing or by asking the candidate for information in any form.

2.10.7 Communicating

You must not communicate with, or attempt to communicate with, any person other than an invigilator during an examination on topics not related to the examination, regardless of whether such communication is verbal or non-verbal.

2.10.8 Failure to comply with the instructions of an invigilator

You must stop writing when instructed.

You must not continue to perform whatever task is being examined beyond the time allocated by the invigilator.

2.10.9 Misuse of temporary absence

Misuse of temporary absence occurs if you request temporary absence from an examination room (or other room in which a formal assessment is taking place) and thereby gain or attempt to gain access to information that may be relevant to the formal assessment.

2.10.10 Disruptive behaviour

Disruptive behaviour is behaviour that is considered to interfere with the running of an assessment to the detriment of another or other candidates or the invigilators.

2.11 Ethics Misconduct

Ethics misconduct occurs if you:

i fail to comply with the University’s ethics procedures;
ii fail to obtain ethics approval prior to undertaking work involving human and animal participants (see UPR RE01\(^1\));
iii fail to comply with the terms and conditions of ethical approval that has been given for work involving human participants (see UPR RE01\(^1\));
iv fail to take appropriate risk assessments that lead to research being conducted in a way that threatens personal safety or the safety of others involved in the research or threatens national or international security;
v provide false documentation including false participant consent forms;
vi use data for research other than that for which consent has been given;
vii misrepresent participants’ views; or viii fail to seek advice from, or fail to comply with advice given by, the University’s Animal Welfare and Ethical Review Body (AWERB) for work involving animals.

---

\(^1\) UPR RE01 ‘Studies involving human participants’
2.12 Breach of Professional Confidentiality

Breach of confidentiality includes actions such as:

i releasing a business client’s commercial secrets or intellectual property;

ii disclosing a patient’s / service user’s name in an assessment submission or disclosing details that would enable a patient or other service user to be identified; or ii disclosing participant names for a survey or focus group, when participants have been told that their responses will be anonymised. This is also ethics misconduct (see section 2.11).

2.13 False Declarations

False declarations involve making up evidence in support of a coursework extension, a Serious Adverse Circumstances claim or an Appeal. This includes for example, forging a signature on a medical certificate or a death certificate or altering the content of the certificate.

2.14 Impersonation

2.14.1 Impersonation involves:

i getting, or attempting to get, someone else to take your assessment for you; or ii taking, or attempting to take, an assessment for another student.

2.14.2 The University may report this type of academic misconduct to the Police: impersonation is a type of fraud.

2.15 Bribery and / or intimidation in relation to assessment

Bribery or intimidation occur if you:

i ask another student to complete your assessment in return for payment;

ii force another student against their will to hand over their work for you to use in preparing your own assessment; or iii bribe or attempt to bribe an invigilator or examiner.

2.16 Other conduct which constitutes cheating

Cheating includes any other conduct not included in sections 2.2 to 2.15 where a student gains or attempts to gain an unfair, improper or dishonest advantage in the assessment process.

3 Is it academic misconduct to ask another person to proof-read or check my work?

3.1 The University expects that any piece of work submitted for assessment is the student’s own work. Any use of a proof-reader (e.g. parent, friend etc) or proof-reading, translation or editing service must not affect how much of the work is your own.
3.2 Where you choose to ask another person to proof-read or check your work you must do so within the following rules:

i you should declare that a proof-reader has been used on submission of your work;

ii where a proof-reader or proof-reading service is used, they may:

- identify spelling and typographical errors;
- identify poor grammar;
- highlight formatting errors or inconsistencies;
- identify errors in labelling of diagrams, charts or figures;
- identify areas for possible improvement;
- highlight a sentence or paragraph where the meaning is not clear; or
- draw attention to repeated phrases or omitted words.

iii where a proof-reader or proof-reading service is used the proof-reader must not:

- rewrite passages of text to clarify the meaning;
- directly adjust or manipulate your work;
- change any words or figures, except to correct spelling;
- rewrite calculations, formulae, equations or computer code;
- rearrange or reformat content;
- contribute any additional material to the original;
- re-label diagrams, charts or figures;
- implement or alter a referencing system or add to references;
- re-arrange or re-order sentences to improve the structure or argument; or
- translate your work into English from another language.

iv proof-readers should not make any changes but merely identify, highlight or draw attention to changes to improve the quality of the work;

3.3 In some disciplines, for some assessments, it may not be acceptable for any proof-reading to take place e.g. where correct grammar is part of the assessment criteria. Where this is the case, you will be informed in advance of undertaking the assessment.

4 How is academic misconduct proved?

4.1 If disciplinary action is to be taken for academic misconduct (Stage 2 (see section 8) and Stage 3 (see section 9)), the burden of proving academic misconduct lies with the University. However, the standard of proof required is that of a balance of probabilities. A balance of probabilities means that it is more likely than not that academic misconduct has occurred.

4.2 Whilst serious adverse circumstances may be relevant to the penalty applied for academic misconduct, serious adverse circumstances cannot be a factor in whether or not academic misconduct has occurred.
5 What is the role of academic judgement in deciding whether academic misconduct has occurred?

5.1 Academic judgment is the decision made by academic staff on the quality of the work itself or the criteria being applied. It is based on the scholarly and/or professional knowledge and expertise which academic staff and external examiners draw upon in reaching academic decisions about assessment.

5.2 Identifying suspected academic misconduct will often, but not always, involve academic judgment. Examples of academic judgment include:

- interpreting text matching software reports, such as Turnitin;
- deciding whether the student’s words or ideas represent common usage in the subject area;
- deciding the extent of the plagiarism or other academic misconduct;
- deciding whether the standard of work is so out of line with the student’s other assessments that this suggests academic misconduct on the part of the student; or
- deciding whether the student’s notes and drafts support a case that the submitted work was produced by them.

5.3 Academic judgement will not apply to the process of working out what has actually taken place (i.e. question of fact). Examples of questions of fact include:

- whether a student’s parent wrote the work for them;
- whether student X has the identical text in their assessment because they colluded with student Y;
- whether a student paid a student from the year above to do the work for them; or
- whether there was intention to commit an academic misconduct offence.

6 The investigation of alleged academic misconduct

6.1 Who is responsible for investigating academic misconduct in your School?

6.1.1 Except where the alleged academic misconduct is a breach of ethics protocols (see sections 2.11, ii and iii, and UPR RE01¹), the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) is responsible for investigating academic misconduct within the School. The Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) may delegate any investigation into academic misconduct to a School Academic Integrity Officer (SAIO).

6.1.2 Where the alleged academic misconduct is a breach of ethics protocols (see sections 2.11, ii and iii, and UPR RE01¹), the investigation into the academic misconduct is the responsibility of the Chair of the relevant Ethics Committee with Delegated Authority (ECDA) who may delegate the investigation to the Deputy Chair.
6.2 What should a member of the University's staff do if they suspect that a student has committed an academic misconduct offence?

6.2.1 The member of staff must report the matter to the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or to the SAIO who has been appointed to investigate instances of academic misconduct on their module / programme.

6.2.1 All allegations of academic misconduct as defined by section 2 must be detailed in writing to the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO and must, where required by the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO, be accompanied by appropriate documentary evidence to support the allegation. In the case of a suspected breach of ethics protocol (see sections 2.11, ii and iii, and UPR RE011), the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO must refer the matter to the Chair or Deputy Chair of the relevant ECDA for investigation.

6.3 How will alleged academic misconduct be investigated?

6.3.1 The Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO will carry out a preliminary investigation and decide whether no further action should be taken or whether the alleged academic misconduct will be dealt with at Stage 1 (see section 7), Stage 2 (see section 8) or Stage 3 (see section 9).

6.3.2 Where the alleged academic misconduct is a breach of ethics protocols (see sections 2.11, ii and iii, and UPR RE011), the Chair or Deputy Chair of the relevant ECDA decide whether no further action should be taken or whether the alleged misconduct will be dealt with under Stage 1 (see section 7), Stage 2 (see section 8) or Stage 3 (see section 9).

6.3.3 Where self-plagiarism, plagiarism or collusion occur in a formative assessment no disciplinary action will normally be taken against you but you are advised to seek support from your module tutor or personal tutor or equivalent.

6.4 What factors will be considered in deciding whether the academic misconduct should be dealt with at Stage 1, Stage 2 or Stage 3

The following factors will be considered by the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO or, where the alleged academic misconduct is a breach of ethics protocols (see sections 2.11, ii and iii, and UPR RE011), by the Chair or Deputy Chair of the relevant ECDA:

- whether the student has committed an academic misconduct offence before;
- whether attempts at paraphrasing have been made;
- the extent to which you have engaged or not engaged with support for academic integrity;
- whether attempts of referencing technique have made (e.g. incorrect citation);
- how far the student is into their academic journey at the University;
- the level at which the student is studying;
- whether the assessment brief/assessment guidance was clear;
- the extent of the misconduct demonstrated by the student;
- conventions of the discipline or subject area;
- whether there is evidence that the student intended to commit an academic misconduct offence;
• whether the academic misconduct is identified across more than one module;
• whether the student had personal circumstances which affected their decision making at the time;
• in the case of a student enrolled on a programme which leads to eligibility for professional registration and/or licence to practise, or where the programme requires the student to be registered with a professional body, whether the alleged academic misconduct raises questions of honesty and integrity which may call into question the student’s fitness to practise.

6.5 Support for students with a health or disability related issue in relation to academic misconduct proceedings

6.5.1 If you have a declared health or disability-related issue, the University will make reasonable adjustments in respect of all academic misconduct proceedings, for example in preparation for attendance at meetings associated with the proceedings and with respect to the management of any action plan or penalty following proceedings.

6.5.2 Guidance should be sought by staff and students from the relevant Disability Advisor or Mental Wellbeing Advisor or from the Equality Office, and as appropriate, about further support during student academic misconduct proceedings.

7 Stage 1 investigation

7.1 Stage 1 is not in itself a disciplinary process, although, following a Stage 1 investigation, the matter may be referred to disciplinary proceedings at Stage 2 (see section 8) or Stage 3 (see section 9) or to proceedings under UPR SA15 ‘Student Fitness to Practise’.

7.2 A Stage 1 investigation may only be commenced:

i after discussion with, and agreement from, the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO (or the Chair or Deputy Chair of the relevant ECDA where the ethics misconduct (see sections 2.11, ii and iii, and UPR RE01) appears to be a technical breach); and ii where the academic misconduct offence appears to be:

a a technical breach of ethics protocols (see sections 2.11, ii and iii, and UPR RE01); or b self-plagiarism; or c plagiarism; and/or d collusion; and

iii where the student has not previously been found to have committed an academic misconduct offence following a Stage 2 (see section 8) or Stage 3 (see section 9) disciplinary investigation.

7.3 The Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO will decide using the criteria in section 6.4 above whether the academic misconduct can be dealt with under Stage 1.
7.4 Alleged contract-cheating or other academic misconduct offences not included in 7.2 above, cannot be investigated under Stage 1.

7.5 You will be provided with the evidence of the alleged academic misconduct together with the intended academic decision. You will then be given the opportunity to discuss and explain the evidence of academic misconduct and/or the academic decision with the marker and/or the SAIO.

7.6 As part of a Stage 1 investigation, you may be questioned about the work you have submitted and asked to explain how it was prepared, including how you went about writing it, but only for the purpose of deciding whether the academic misconduct should be dealt with under Stage 2 (see section 8) or Stage 3 (see section 9). If the investigator considers that a viva is required, the alleged academic misconduct must be dealt with under Stage 2 (see section 8) or 3 (see section 9).

7.7 If you are found to have committed academic misconduct at Stage 1 you will be informed in writing:

i that the relevant Module/Short Course Board will be notified of the academic decision regarding the assessment; and ii that the incident of academic misconduct will not be entered onto your student record but that the SAIO will note the incident on the School’s record of Stage 1 academic misconduct offences for monitoring purposes; and iii where you can go for guidance on how to avoid academic misconduct in future; and iv to contact your personal tutor or equivalent about how to access additional assessment support.

7.8 A Stage 1 investigation must be completed within ten (10) working days or as soon as possible thereafter of the matter being referred to the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO.

7.9 Outcomes following an academic misconduct investigation concluded under Stage 1

As Stage 1 is not a disciplinary process, the outcomes are purely academic decisions about the grades awarded and these are set down in the table below:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Academic Misconduct</th>
<th>Indicative academic decision</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>No case to answer</td>
<td>No change to the grade awarded</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plagiarism – where there is clear evidence (e.g. from the relevant software) that plagiarism may have taken place and it is reasonable, in the circumstances, for the University to make this assumption.</td>
<td>Reduction in the grade reflecting no marks being awarded for plagiarised parts.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Self-plagiarism</td>
<td>Reduction in the grade reflecting no marks being awarded for self-plagiarised parts.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
There is an unjustified similarity in the submission provided by the student with that of another / other students submitting the same assessment. Text matching software or other evidence shows that a student assessment has identical or similar text to one or more other students who have submitted work for the same assessment. This may be as a result of the students conferring or students may have taken the content from a common source.

No marks awarded for similar or identical text.

Technical Breach of Ethics Protocols (see sections 2.11, ii and iii, and UPR RE01)

Mark reduction but based on the marking criteria and academic judgement. Ethics Committee to input

7.10 Appeals following a Stage 1 investigation

You may appeal to the Dean of School against a finding of fact in relation to the academic misconduct, but you cannot appeal against the academic judgement upon which the decision is based (see section 5 above). The appeal must be received by the Dean of School within ten (10) working days of the date on which you were sent the written notification of the outcome of a Stage 1 investigation.

8 Stage 2 proceedings

8.1 At Stage 2, the academic misconduct is regarded as a disciplinary matter to be dealt with by the School.

8.2 At the discretion of the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO, any academic misconduct offence may be dealt with under Stage 2 where you are prepared to accept both the disciplinary warning AND the academic penalty, except:

- misappropriation of material submitted for assessment;
- contract cheating;
- bribery and / or intimidation relating to assessment;
- false declarations which amount to forgery of a signature;
- impersonation;
- if you are a student enrolled on a programme which leads to eligibility for professional registration and/or licence to practise or where the programme requires the student to be registered with a professional body and the alleged academic misconduct raises questions of honesty and integrity which may call into question the student’s fitness to practise. In this event the case will be referred to be dealt with under UPR SA15 ‘Student Fitness to Practise’.

8.3 The Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO will decide using the criteria in section 6.4 above whether the academic misconduct can be dealt with under Stage 2.
8.4 Where the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO (or the Chair or Deputy Chair of the relevant ECDA) considers it appropriate to deal with the academic misconduct under Stage 2, they will within ten (10) working days of the date on which the allegation was referred to them, or as soon as possible thereafter, inform you, in writing, by means of a Letter of Notification of the alleged academic misconduct and the underlying facts that have been provided to support the allegation.

8.5 The letter will provide you with three options and a requirement to respond within five (5) working days of the date of the Letter of Notification (not the date of its receipt by you):

1. you wish to admit the academic misconduct offence and for the matter to be resolved under Stage 2 by accepting a disciplinary warning and the academic penalty detailed in the letter; or

2. you wish to discuss the allegation(s) and are available for a meeting with the Associate Dean (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO (or the Chair or Deputy Chair of the relevant ECDA in the case of an alleged breach of ethics protocols (see sections 2.11, ii and iii, and UPR RE01)); or

3. you refute the allegation(s) with the consequence that the matter is to be resolved under Stage 3 (see section 9) by referral to a Student Academic Misconduct Panel.

8.6 Where you wish to discuss the allegation in a meeting, a member of the centralised Academic Misconduct team will make a written record of any meeting between you and the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO.

8.7 If you fail to respond to the Letter of Notification within five (5) working days of the date of the Letter of Notification or you request a meeting and then fails to attend after being given a reasonable opportunity to do so, the allegation will be referred to be considered under Stage 3 (see section 9) at a Student Academic Misconduct Panel.

8.8 If you wish to accept the allegation and the penalty following the meeting, you will have five (5) working days to send written acceptance of the allegation and the recommended penalty to the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO via the centralised Academic Misconduct team.

8.9 If the acceptance is not received by the centralised Academic Misconduct team within five (5) working days of the date of the meeting, the allegation will be referred to be considered under Stage 3 (see section 9) at a Student Academic Misconduct Panel.

8.10 Where you accept the allegation and the penalty either initially or following a meeting with the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO, the centralised Academic Misconduct team will inform the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO, the module leader and the Chair/Clerk of the relevant Short Course/Module Board by means of a Stage 2 Letter of Decision.
8.11 Where you refute the allegation(s) either initially or following a meeting with the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO, the centralised Academic Misconduct team will inform you by means of a Letter of Referral to Stage 3 that the allegation will be dealt with under Stage 3 (see section 9). They will also inform the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) / SAIO, the Module Leader and the Chair/Clerk of the relevant Module / Short Course Board that consideration of your grade for the module(s) is to be deferred to await the outcome of the hearing by the Student Academic Misconduct Panel (SAMP).

A disciplinary warning placed on the student’s record;
AND
a requirement to access support and guidance as directed by the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO in consultation with your personal tutor or equivalent.

Other academic misconduct where a student gains or attempts to gain an unfair, improper or dishonest advantage in the assessment process.
A grade of 0 for the assessment;
AND
a disciplinary warning placed on the student’s record;
AND
a requirement to access support and guidance as directed by the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO in consultation with your personal tutor or equivalent.

9 Stage 3 proceedings

9.1 At Stage 3, the alleged academic misconduct is regarded as a serious disciplinary matter to be considered in a formal hearing by a Student Academic Misconduct Panel (SAMP).

9.2 An alleged academic misconduct offence will be dealt with under Stage 3 for one or more of the following reasons:

i the academic misconduct is:
   a contract cheating;
   b misappropriation of material submitted for assessment;
   c impersonation;
   d forgery of a signature;
   e bribery and/or intimidation in relation to an assessment; or ii the case of academic misconduct, not included in section i above, is considered by the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO to be, on its particular facts, a serious disciplinary matter that is not appropriately considered under Stage 1 (see section 7) or Stage 2 (see section 8); and/or iii you have already been given a disciplinary warning by the School for a previous offence of academic misconduct and there are no exceptional circumstances to justify dealing with a subsequent case of academic misconduct under Stage 2 (see section 8); or iv you are unwilling to accept or fail to give notification of acceptance of a disciplinary warning together with the academic penalty from Stage 2 (see section 8).

9.3 Where the academic misconduct is to be dealt with under Stage 3, the centralised Academic Misconduct team will, within ten (10) working days, or as soon as possible thereafter, of the decision to pursue the allegation of academic misconduct under Stage 3, send you a Letter of Referral. This will provide you with details of the allegation and a summary of the investigation outcome. Within a further five (5) working days from the Letter of Referral or as soon as possible thereafter, you will receive from Student Procedures a Letter of Notification specifying the date, time and location of the Student Academic Misconduct Panel Hearing.

9.4 After the conclusion of the Student Academic Misconduct Panel Hearing, the Chair of the Student Academic Misconduct Panel will inform you of the outcome of the Hearing by way of a Stage 3 Letter of Decision. This will be copied to the Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) or SAIO, the Programme leader, the Module Leader and the Chair/Clerk of the Module Board.

9.6 The Student Academic Misconduct Panel will take into account the following factors in deciding penalties:

- whether you have committed academic misconduct before;
- whether you admitted the academic misconduct at the earliest opportunity;
- whether you show remorse for the academic misconduct;
- whether you had compelling personal circumstances which affected their decision making at the time;
- the extent to which you have engaged or not engaged with support for academic integrity;
- how far you are into their academic journey at the University;
- any visa implications for international students; and
- any career implications.
