

BSc (Hons) Therapeutic Radiography

PERSONAL STATEMENT GUIDE

Thank you for taking an interest in our Therapeutic Radiography programme. We very much look forward to welcoming you to the University of Hertfordshire, so you can join our thriving community. Please read this guide very carefully, to make sure you put yourself in the best possible position for joining us.

In addition to your academic qualifications, we are also very interested in the details you give in the personal statement as part of your application. We select who we invite to an interview based on both of these, so it is very important that you get this right. We will only be able to invite you for an interview if you meet the required standard for both your qualifications and your personal statement.

We know that sometimes it can be difficult to know what to include in your personal statement, so we have put together this brief guide.

WHAT WE EXPECT IN YOUR PERSONAL STATEMENT

1. Why are you interested in Therapeutic Radiography as a career?

Tell us what makes you want to become a Therapeutic Radiographer. How does it suit with your personality and your character? What has inspired you to become one and what are you hoping to achieve as a Therapeutic Radiographer? What are your aspirations for yourself, the people you will be treating, and society in general?

2. What is your understanding of the scope of the Therapeutic Radiography profession?

We want to see that you are aware of the great variety of areas you can work as a Therapeutic Radiographer. A good starting place to find out more about this (and other Radiotherapy-related information) is the website of The Society and College of Radiographers (www.sor.org). We cannot stress enough how important it is for you to explore this website, so make sure you do!

3. Do you have any experience of observing or working with Therapeutic Radiographers or other Health Professionals? What have you learnt from this?

- There is nothing better than having first-hand experience of what Therapeutic Radiographers do at work! This will help you see how they work and appreciate the various areas they work in. The best way to do this is to contact hospitals with radiotherapy centres and ask them if you could go and spend some time observing the staff. Email us at radiotherapy@herts.ac.uk for a list of our collaborating partners who are accepting visitors. If you struggle to arrange direct radiotherapy work experience, don't give up! You can try to gain some experience in other health or care settings. Don't worry if you can't arrange this before writing your statement.
- We don't have a minimum or maximum time that we expect you to do work experience or observation for. Anything from a half day to a week is fine, but obviously the more time you spend, the better your understanding will become.
- In your personal statement, you can tell us what you have done, where, how long for and more importantly what you experienced and the impact it had on you and your desire to become a Therapeutic Radiographer.

4. What do you know about the National Health Service (NHS) and what do you understand about the Values that are embedded in the NHS Constitution?

- Don't worry, this is not as complex as it may look like at first. It is however very important and the best starting point is to get an understanding of the NHS first. We suggest you explore the website link below, but you can find plenty of additional webpages about the NHS by visiting: nhs.uk/NHSEngland/thenhs/about/Pages/overview.aspx
- Once you are familiar with the basics of the NHS, make sure to have a look at the Constitution and the Values by following this link: gov.uk/government/publications/the-nhs-constitution-for-england
- In your personal statement, we want to see that you have an understanding of the Values and we want to see examples from your own experience that relate to them. This is what we expect to see, so make sure you tell us!

5. What interests, hobbies or other experiences have you gained prior to your application to the University of Hertfordshire?

In addition to all the above, we want to know a bit about you as well. What are your interests? Do you play any sports? Or do you have any hobbies? Do you want to tell us things you have achieved and are proud of? This can be especially useful in showcasing your teamworking and communication skills.
